Recommended Text: This course has no assigned textbook.

Readings: A variety of chapters and readings will be made available. Some chapters/articles will appear with particular classes. Other readings will be made available for students to choose from. Several issues of the Handbook of Teacher Education and other yearbooks, handbooks and books will be used.

Visiting Professors: Representatives from Texas universities will share the features of their teacher education programs.

Diversity Statement of the Department of Teaching, Learning, and Culture: The Department of Teaching, Learning, and Culture (TLAC) does not tolerate discrimination, violence, or vandalism. TLAC is an open and affirming department for all people, including those who are subjected to racial profiling, hate crimes, heterosexism, and violence. We insist that appropriate action be taken against those who perpetuate discrimination, violence, or vandalism. Texas A&M University is an Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity institution and affirms its dedication to non-discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, age, sexual orientation, domestic partner status, national origin, or disability in employment, programs, and services. Our commitment to nondiscrimination and affirmative action embraces the entire university community including faculty, staff, and students.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA): The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you believe you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact Disability Services, currently located in the Disability Services building at the Student Services at White Creek complex on west campus or call 979-845-1637. For additional information, visit http://disability.tamu.edu

Academic Integrity: “An Aggie does not lie, cheat, or steal, or tolerate those who do.” The Honor Council Rules and Procedures are available on the web http://www.tamu.edu/aggiehonor For additional information please visit: http://aggiehonor.tamu.edu

The Family Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA): FERPA requires that student grades be accessible only to individual students and other authorized personnel. More about FERPA is available online and in other TAMU documents.

Student Concerns: If you have a concern about any aspect of the course, please inform the instructor as soon as possible. If the issue cannot be resolved to your satisfaction, you will need to complete the TLAC Concern/Opportunity/Acknowledge (COAF) Form and submit it to the TLAC Department Head, Dr. Michael De Miranda.

Course Objectives: Students will

1) Read historical and contemporary literature having to do with teacher education policy
2) Discuss teacher education with leaders of different university teacher education programs
3) Research key features of American teacher education
4) Research key figures in American teacher education
5) Debate critical issues in U.S. teacher education;
6) Imagine the future of U.S. teacher education

Readings and Course Materials: This course has no assigned textbook. A variety of chapters and readings will be made available. Some chapters/readings will appear with particular lessons.
Other readings will be made available for students to choose from. Students are expected to read several chapters in the many editions of the Handbook of Teacher Education.

Course Overview: The course will begin with the mass education movement in Europe and how that spilled over to the new world, eventually making formal teacher education programs of informal teacher education experiences. The move from normal schools to colleges to universities and eventually into a multitude of teacher education service providers will be discussed. Dewey’s home-grown educational philosophy, which championed minded teachers, will be taken into account. Original policy documents such as the Coleman Report, Jencks Report, A Nation at Risk, No Child Left Behind and Every Student Succeeds will additionally be surveyed. Key features of U.S. teacher education will be unpacked, and the contributions of central figures in American teacher education will be spotlighted. Major issues will be debated, and, finally, the future of teacher education will be imagined.

Assignments: The assignments include:
1) Classroom Participation  15%
2) Annotated reference list on a key feature of American teacher education (practicum, portfolio, professional attributes, mentoring, reflection, narrative, certification, alternate certification, program accreditation, use of technology, preservice teacher research, self-study of teacher educator practices, preservice teacher assessments, etc.) 25%
3) Academic lifeline of a key figure in U.S. teacher education (Linda Darling-Hammond, Marilyn Cochran-Smith, Ken Zeichner, Lee Shulman, Gloria Ladson-Billings, Sonia Neito, etc.) 25%
4) Evidence-Based Paper on a Recurrent Issue in U.S. Teacher Education (politicization of American teacher education; standardization of American teacher education; delivery of American teacher education; valuing/devaluing American teacher education, urban teacher education, rural teacher education, etc.) 35%

Class Requirements:
1. Students are expected to read all assigned chapters/articles.
2. Students are expected to attend guest lectures.
3. Students are expected to work with others when required. It is expected that all students will have completed the readings by the assigned dates; all students will be accountable for completing tasks associated with the readings. Your tasks will be graded and evaluated on the quality of your analysis of the assigned readings and of the topics under discussion, the relevance of your comments, and your willingness to assume responsibility for making the on-line course a learning opportunity.
4. Students are expected to complete all assignments on their assigned days. Make-up for assignments shall be given with medical or university excuses only.
5. Late assignments will be accepted in emergency situations.
Participation Criteria: The following criteria should guide your participation in class discussions:

1. Do your interactions demonstrate respect for others’ opinions?
2. Do your interactions address relevant issues or questions?
3. Do your interactions evidence reflection or thoughtful discussion of the required readings/topics of inquiry?
4. Do your interactions integrate key terms/ideas from the readings?
5. Do your interactions make explicit connections between your personal and professional experiences and the content of the assigned or self-selected readings?
6. Do your interactions present the content in an organized and coherent fashion?
7. Do your interactions include references to the literature in the field?

Course Assignments and Completion: Each assignment for the course has specific points. Failure to complete assignments by deadlines may result in loss of points/reduction of final grade. Students are responsible for completing their assignments by the designated due dates. Make-up for assignments shall be given with medical or university excuses only. See Texas A&M student rule 7 for more information http://student-rules.tamu.edu/rule07

Grading Scale:
90-100 = A
80-89 = B
70-79 = C
60-69 = D
Below 60 = F

Course Requirements: Attendance in class is expected except when hybrid activities are assigned.
